- 61.4 Clause 4.9 shall be replaced by the following provision:
The customer shall only be entitled to assert a right of retention or right of set-off if the rights or claims asserted by the customer for this purpose have been legally established or are undisputed.
- 61.5 Clauses 11.1 and 11.3 shall be replaced by the following new clause 11.1. References in the Contract to clauses 11.1 and 11.3 are to be understood as references to the following provisions:
- 11.1.1 Irrespective of other provisions of the Contract, Proact shall be subject to an unlimited liability for all damages caused by it and its legal representatives, employees and/or other vicarious agents through gross negligence or wilful misconduct, for damages caused by culpable injury to life, limb or health.
- 11.1.2 Without prejudice to the liability under this clause 11.1.1 Proact shall be liable for all culpably caused damages if and only to the extent that Proact violates essential contractual obligations. Essential contractual obligations are those which are essential for achieving the purpose of an agreement and on which the customer may regularly rely. In such cases, Proact's liability is limited to damages that are typically foreseeable at the time of conclusion of the Contract. Proact's entire liability for typically foreseeable damages is limited to a total amount of EUR 5,000,000 (five million euros).
- 11.1.3 Without prejudice to the liability under this clause 11.1.1 and 11.1.2 Proact's liability for the loss of data is limited to an amount no greater than the expense incurred for restoration of the data if the Customer has regularly and appropriately applied state of the art data backups and has ensured that lost data can be restored with reasonable effort.
- 11.1.4 Any further liability of Proact shall be excluded. In particular, Proact shall not be liable for initial defects of leased goods, unless the requirements of clauses 11.1.1 and 11.1.2 are met.
- 11.1.5 The exclusions and limitations of liability in this clause 11 shall not affect any liability for damages in cases of mandatory statutory liability, in particular pursuant to the German Product Liability Act (Produkthaftungsgesetz) or in the event of the assumption of a guarantee.
- 11.1.6 Unless otherwise stipulated in the Contract, all claims of the Customer against Proact shall be subject to a limitation period of one year, calculated from the start of the statutory limitation period. This shall not apply to liability claims according to clauses 11.1.1, 11.1.2 and 11.5.

11.1.7 The limitations of liability shall also apply in favour of the legal representatives, employees and other vicarious agents of Proact, as well as, in the case of liability for culpa in contrahendo and tort.

61.6 Clause 24.1 shall be replaced by the following clause:

Proact warrants that on delivery the goods shall be suitable for the purposes expressly agreed in the Contract. Except as expressly provided otherwise in the Contract, Proact makes no express or implied warranties as to the fitness of the goods for a particular purpose. The contractually agreed quality of the goods does not include representations of the goods in public statements (especially advertising) or statements made by Proact's employees, unless expressly confirmed in writing by the Proact management; the same applies to possible guarantee declarations prior to conclusion of the Contract by Proact's employees.

61.7 Clause 24.2 shall be replaced by the following provision: [Subject to clause 24.3]:

24.2.1 If the delivered goods are defective, Proact may initially choose whether subsequent performance is effected by remedying the defect (remedy) or by delivery of a defect-free item (replacement delivery). The right to refuse subsequent performance under statutory law shall thereby remain unaffected.

24.2.2 Proact shall be entitled to make the subsequent performance dependent on the Customer paying the due remuneration. However, the Customer is entitled to retain a proportion of the Charges which adequately corresponds with the defect.

24.2.3 The Customer shall give Proact the time and opportunity required for subsequent performance owed and shall in particular hand over the rejected goods for inspection purposes to Proact. In the event of a replacement delivery, the Customer shall return the defective goods to Proact in accordance with the provisions of statutory law. Subsequent performance does not include either the removal of the defective goods or the re-installation if Proact was not originally obliged to install them.

24.2.4 The expenses necessary for the purpose of inspection and subsequent performance, in particular transport, travel, labour and material costs (excluding dismantling and installation costs), shall be borne by Proact if there is actually a defect. Otherwise, Proact shall be entitled to claim a reimbursement of the costs incurred as a result of the unjustified request for rectification of defects (in particular inspection and transport costs) from the Customer, unless the lack of defects was not recognisable for the Customer.

24.2.5 If the subsequent performance has failed or if a reasonable grace period to be set by the Customer for subsequent performance has expired unsuccessfully or is unnecessary in accordance with statutory provisions, the Customer may withdraw from the Contract or reduce the Charges. In the case of an insignificant defect, however, there is no right of withdrawal.

24.2.6 The Customer's claims for damages or reimbursement of futile expenses shall only exist in the event of defects in accordance with clause 11 and shall be excluded in all other respects.
